Morning with supermodel Kendall

The beauty secrets of supermodel Kendall

Recently, supermodel Kendall Jenner walked the runway for Jimmy Choo 2023 Fall/Winter show, and her perfect state made people marvel at the strict management of the international supermodel's body. She was also invited to Paris Fashion Week, so how did she enjoy the relaxed moments of her trip to Paris? How does she manage her health and skin daily? Now, let's get into the morning routine of supermodel Kendall.

8：00AM I usually wake up with a big glass of water because I'm usually thirsty after a night's sleep. I usually have a cup of Greek yogurt with bagels, which is convenient, and I love it.

8：30AM I'm going to the show soon, so I'm going to put on my makeup. But usually, I go to the gym for 1-2 hours and then I have a lunch break.

10：00AM It's a beautiful day in Paris today. I miss the sunshine here. Oh, look, this is my favorite coffee shop. I like to sit and drink coffee all afternoon when I'm not working.

As an international supermodel, she also needs body management in private. Her figure is not morbidly thin, and she prefers a healthy diet management and plenty of aerobic exercise. It gives her a healthy, plump, powerful body. As Wood says, "To get fit is to change your lifestyle" Kendall has her own way of staying healthy and slim, especially on the runway. Through her posts and interviews, we rounded up 5 tips for losing weight that you shouldn't miss.

Don't eat less， eat right. When you want chicken, go for it, but pick lean parts, like chicken breasts, and try steaming and boiling rather than frying.

Base your meals on lean proteins. We all know the benefits of protein, so protein-based foods can not only fill you up but also make you healthier and leaner.

Avoid eating too much carb. Reduce your intake of rice, noodles, bread and other similar foods.

Eat greens！ Kendall's choice is kale and spinach, in addition to adding them to her meals, she also makes them into green juice, add some lemon juice and apple.

Do not eat fruit after meals. Eat before or during meals, fruit can be a substitute, but not an addition.

When it comes to skin care, in addition to the familiar facial cleansing, toner, cream and serum use, Kendall has also recently gained some other experiences of her own.

"I was trying to figure out for so long, why my skin was breaking out. I knew that it wasn't what I was putting on my face. I started thinking about my diet a lot, and decided to cut out dairy. Not entirely, I love cheese, so it's hard for me to cut out cheese. And that honestly helped me so much, And I drink tons of water as much as I can, or remember to."

Good healthy living and eating habits will help us get more energy and enthusiasm in daily life, and Kendall also has a better balance between work and life under such self-discipline. So, everybody, what are you waiting for, starting today, starting right now, to enjoy the beauty of a healthy life.
